Artist To Drop Citizenship In Viet Protest

TOKYO (AP) — William R. Christensen, a 37-year-old artist from Hartford, Conn., announced today he will renounce his American citizenship in protest against U.S. policy in Vietnam.

"I am sorry to admit," the painter and sculptor told a news conference, "that the majority of the American people feel righteous and just in supporting a cruel, brutal and cowardly massacre of the small country of Vietnam."

He read an open letter to the Japanese people and government requesting that he be allowed to stay and work in Japan and a cable to President Johnson calling for a halt to the bombing of Vietnam.

Christensen has been in Tokyo with his 5-year-old son Eric for two months, working for a Japanese export-import firm with its French and English correspondence. His wife a native of Paris, lives with their two other children, Anne, 8, and Eva, 7, in Albany, Calif.

Christensen worked there as a typewriter repairman before coming to Japan. He said he hopes to have his family join him in the fall.

LBJ Must Step On Gas To Save Great Society

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress is nearing a midyear stalling point with indications that President Johnson is going to have to bear down on the throttle to save his Great Society programs.

Far from being ready to complete its work in July as Johnson once predicted it could, Congress has enacted only six major bills—excise tax restoration, emergency defense appropriations, GI benefits, uniform daylight saving time, Asian Development Bank and Food for India. This is an average of about one a month.

With the exception of House passage of minimum wage increase and Food for Freedom bills, neither house has tackled any of the social and economic legislation asked by Johnson to strengthen civil rights, clear city slums, unravel the transportation snarl and accelerate health and education programs.

The Senate, where the legislative machinery moves at a creaking pace at best, met 40 minutes Monday. It passed a sheaf of minor relief bills and quit until Wednesday.

It had nothing important on its docket because its committees haven't acted one way or the other on the measures the President has proposed. The Foreign Relations Committee, for example, hasn't come up with an agreement on foreign aid after kicking it around for

Chicago Strives For Peace

CHICAGO (AP) — Community leaders strove today to bring peace to a Puerto Rican neighborhood after a second night of rioting left seven persons wounded.

Hundreds of police poured into the mile-square area on Chicago's Northwest Side at dusk Monday night to quell renewed violence that began Sunday night.

The mobs, estimated by police to number more than 1,000, smashed windows, looted stores and stoned automobiles and buses. Dozens of shots were fired and fire bombs were hurled at police who fought until early today to restore order.

Leaders in the Spanish-speaking area along Division street near Humboldt Park said the rioting resulted from police brutality to residents of the neighborhood.

Police denied any brutality.

Thirty-seven arrests were made Monday night and early today, making a total of 81 seized during the two nights of violence.

All seven of the wounded were Puerto Ricans.

Police said one of the wounded was shot by a policeman, the others by stray shots fired by rioters.

Car Safety Bill Before Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Warren G. Magnuson says he hopes for Senate Commerce Committee approval today of a bill requiring establishment of mandatory federal safety standards for cars.

However, other committee sources said such action today is extremely doubtful, if not impossible. "There are just too many issues still to be discussed," one said.

The committee, headed by Magnuson, completed its hearings April 6 and is considering a revised version of part of the safety legislation urged by President Johnson.

The Washington Democrat said he expects the committee to approve a bill requiring establishment of safety standards. Johnson asked only that the secretary of commerce be given authority to act.

Magnuson said the committee had reached tentative agreement on the general outlines of the proposed legislation but last-minute work was being done on details of the revised draft.

The measure would direct the secretary of commerce, or the secretary of transportation if the new Cabinet department is established, to set interim safety standards for cars by next Jan. 1.

Based on existing public or private standards, these would become effective from six months to a year later—perhaps in time to apply to 1968 model cars.

PLEAD GUILTY TO MURDERING OF ART TEACHER

CHICAGO (AP)—Two youths have pleaded guilty to charges of murdering a University of Chicago art teacher during a holdup.

Judge Edward J. Egan set Wednesday for sentencing after Patrick Kennedy, 20, and Richard Tolowski, 16, pleaded guilty in Circuit Court Monday.

The two pleaded guilty during a hearing on a motion by Kennedy's lawyer to suppress a statement Kennedy gave to police when arrested with Tolowski March 30.

In the statement, Kennedy said he shot art critic Paul Bell Moses, 36, in the head. Moses' body was found on a Northwest Side street and his car was discovered a few days later in a Clinton, Iowa, used car lot.

The boys said they drove the car to Iowa.

Moses was a native of Bryn Mawr, Pa., and was an honor student at Haverford College.

'BIG AS BASEBALL' STERLING, Kan. (AP)—Driving into the country to inspect storm damage the other day, D.D. Hall stopped at the Lou Wiley farm to see a yard full of big hailstones.

Looking them over, he said, "why, here's one as big as a baseball."

Hall walked over and picked it up.

It was a baseball.

Quell Viet Riots By Shots, Tear Gas

By ROBERT MOOREFIELD

With pistol shots and tear gas charges they choked off dozens of demonstrations after a mob burned three Jeeps and grabbed two submachine guns from American Military Police.

Police Rap Ban On Quiz

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—Law enforcement officials fired a salvo of criticism today at the Supreme Court's new decision riveting down strict rules on the questioning of suspects. (Details of ruling on inside page.)

The ruling by the high court Monday covers every police station and sheriff's office in the land.

"It's the damndest thing I ever heard of," said Police Chief Henry C. Ashley of Garland, Tex., when news of the ruling in four confession cases reached the Texas Police Association convention at Odessa. "We may as well close up shop."

What the court did in a 5-4 decision announced by Chief Justice Earl Warren was rule out of bounds in trials all incriminating statements made by a suspect whose constitutional right against possible self-incrimination are not safeguarded by the police.

"We do not purport to find all confessions inadmissible," Warren said in his 61-page opinion. Confessions remain a proper element in law enforcement, he said, and any statement given freely and voluntarily "without any compelling influences" is admissible in evidence.

Yet, in Reno, Nev., Washoe County Sheriff C. W. Young declared: "It's getting to the point where we can't even use a confession if a person wants to confess."

Young and Reno Police Chief Elmer Briscoe said the high court already had hampered law enforcement and, Briscoe added, "This decision emphasizes it more."

In Houston, Tex., Assistant Police Chief George Seber said police "will be greatly hindered in solving crimes where there have been no witnesses. You might as well burn up the books on the science of police interrogation."

Hoffa Tells Aim To Retain His Hold Over Union

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa confirmed today that if he goes to prison he intends to resume control of the world's largest union when he gets out.

Without commenting directly on his two federal convictions, Hoffa said he plans to rewrite the union's constitution to restore himself to power if he becomes "unavailable" for a while.

Hoffa chatted amiably and frankly like a man without a worry in the world, despite 13 years in pending prison sentences, in an interview outlining plans for the Teamsters' July 4 convention in Miami Beach.

"It will be a very important convention," Hoffa said—perhaps the most crucial in his nine stormy years as head of the giant union.

Hoffa is expected to be re-elected to a new five-year term by acclamation when the 2,200 convention delegates meet.

He spelled out fully for the first time the proposed constitutional change to create a new post of general vice president, or executive vice president.

The general vice president would automatically succeed Hoffa if he lost his appeals and went to prison, or became unavailable for any other reason.

If Hoffa again became "available" before the end of his regular five-year term as president, the vice president automatically would step back down for Hoffa to resume his post as union chief—all without a special convention or election.

Says 'Cong Timetable Set Back'

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. paratroopers clashed with North Vietnamese troops in the central highlands today and the U.S. brigade commander said the enemy is "no longer a fighting force."

At the same time, a brigade spokesman estimated the North Vietnamese, the 24th Regiment of from 1,400 to 2,000 men, had lost more than 1,000 in killed alone in a week of fighting.

Brig. Gen. Willard Pearson, commanding the 1st Brigade of the 101st Airborne Division, told reporters: "I believe this battle has set the Viet Cong timetable (of offensive action) back several months."

In the fighting on ridges 35 miles north of Kontum, Pearson said he expected a kill ratio of 14 to 1. South Vietnamese troops have joined the fighting. The new fighting continued through the afternoon against a company-size force of about 100 North Vietnamese.

Over the North Viet Nam coast, two U.S. Navy F4C Phantom jets from the aircraft carrier Ranger intercepted two propeller-driven planes and probably shot down one of them with a radar-guided Sparrow missile.

The encounter took place before dawn 18 miles northeast of Thanh Hoa, 90 miles south of Hanoi. In the darkness the Phantom pilots could not precisely identify the enemy planes, but from their low speed and shape as well as radar contacts judged them to be propeller-driven, a Navy spokesman said. They took evasive action when the Navy jets appeared.

One Phantom fired the Sparrow from several miles away. An explosion was seen and one enemy plane disappeared from the radar screens of the Phantoms and the U.S. missile frigate Contz, which had guided the U.S. jets. The second plane was tracked heading inland.

Except for the fighting north of Kontum near the Laotian border, only light scattered ground action was reported in South Viet Nam.

Warns Marchers Keep Conduct Above Reproach

By BILL CRIDER

GRENADE, Miss. (AP)—Men and women of the Mississippi march, warned that hostile eyes are alert for scandalous behavior, spent another night on a grassy campsite. Nine miles of walking and another voter registration demonstration are on today's schedule.

They bedded down in two huge revivalist-style tents, in sleeping bags or on blankets spread on grass after Floyd B. McKissick, a march leader, admonished them.

"Remember Selma? A man got up in Congress after that and said civil rights people are immoral, that they were doing very personal things in the presence of each other," McKissick said.

McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, referred to accusations by segregationist groups after the Alabama march from Selma to Montgomery last year. His crowd drew laughs from the crowd, some of whom had been on that march.

The Mississippi march, started in Memphis, Tenn., by James H. Meredith June 5, had covered 81 of the 225 miles to Jackson, the state capital. Meredith was shot June 6 near Hernando and is recuperating in New York. He had planned the march as a demonstration that Negroes should not fear to register as voters.

Aubrey James Norvell, 40, the white man from Memphis accused of shooting him, was scheduled for a hearing today in Ripley on his petition to have his $25,000 bond reduced. Norvell has been jailed in Hernando since the shooting.

NEW HAMPSHIRE APPROVES 25TH AMENDMENT

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—New Hampshire became the 28th state Monday night to ratify the 25th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

The amendment provides specifically for the vice president to take over if a president is disabled. It also allows Congress to set up a line of succession if both are disabled.

Approval by 38 states is required to make the amendment part of the Constitution.

Chicago Races Take Spotlight

Challenge Daley's Power

By CHARLES WHALEN

CHICAGO (AP)—Two hard-fought congressional races and the fate of a $195 million civic bond issue in Chicago challenged the power of Mayor Richard J. Daley in the Illinois primary election today.

The top congressional contests pitted age against youth as Daley's organization went all out to turn back efforts to unseat Reps. Barratt O'Hara and William L. Dawson.

Party leaders admitted the 84-year-old O'Hara, who has been in Congress since 1949, encounters a serious threat from Abner J. Mikva, 40, in the 2nd District.

Mikva, who often split with Daley during his 10 years in the Illinois Legislature, centered his campaign on O'Hara's age and his infrequent visits to his district.

Dawson, long-time political leader of Chicago Negroes, was confronted by the strongest primary challenge in his 11 terms, but was favored to win.

His main opponent, Fred D. Hubbard, 38, contended that Dawson has lost touch with Negro problems and has been more interested in the Democratic organization than in his 1st District constituents.

ENLISTEES WILL NO LONGER GET TO PICK STATION

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army is suspending regulations which give a soldier the opportunity to re-enlist for a U.S. station of his choosing.

New men entering the service no longer will be guaranteed specific assignments abroad under the overseas command and enlistment option. These two changes take effect July 1—a result of Viet Nam requirements.

A spokesman said that with the buildup in Southeast Asia more and more replacements are needed for servicemen ending tours of duty.

With more slots to fill in Viet Nam, the Army has less flexibility in where it can send men.

Heretofore, a man re-enlisting in the Army could select a U.S. station where he would serve his next tour, and be virtually guaranteed of getting it.

A similar guarantee applied to a new man entering the Army who asked for assignments to Europe, Korea, the Pacific, or Alaska.

Father's Day Really Necessary Holiday?

By GEORGE NEWMAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Is this Father's Day necessary? That question, raised by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., on the floor of the Senate, was answered today by some fathers.

The nation's fathers, according to an informal survey, were a house more sharply divided than the Senate, where Long's was the only voice to protest the annual resolution to designate the third Sunday in June as Father's Day. The resolution passed Monday and later was seconded by the House without debate.

Long, who said the holiday benefited gift-selling merchants more than fathers, asked, "Why is it necessary to have a national Father's Day?"

He got an answer in Atlanta from Edward D. Disney, a father of three and owner of a film shop.

"It's one of the days connected with the family and it means a lot to me," Disney said.

"I don't agree with Sen. Long—not in the least," said Rick Ingersoll of West Los Angeles, Budd of Lattingtown, N.Y., a dad of a great deal of pleasure from it, and therefore so do I. I'm proud of being a father."

Support for Long's view of two, "if you eliminate holidays because they're commercialized, all you have left is Arbor Day," Father's Day, Mother's Day, and Groundhog Day."

Party For Luci Makes Marble Hall Echo Gaily

WASHINGTON (AP)—The happy sounds of partying echoed through the staid marble hall of the Supreme Court building at a pre-nuptial reception honoring Luci Johnson and Patrick J. Nugent.

Justice and Mrs. Tom C. Clark were hosts at the party Monday night for Luci, daughter of President and Mrs. Johnson, and her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry P. Nugent of Waukegan, Ill.

"It was like old home week" for the President and longtime family friends, said Mrs. Johnson's press secretary, Elizabeth Carpenter.

The 300 guests included some of Washington's top officials and Luci's friends—from her piano teacher and school chums to the Catholic priest who will marry the couple Aug. 6.

Nobody could remember any time when the high court's imposing edifice had been used to fete a bride-to-be, although it has been used for social occasions by justices.

Luci, wearing a white lace dress slightly above the knees with elbow-length sleeves, stood in a receiving line in the main hall just outside the court chamber with her hosts, her fiancé, her mother and Nugent's parents.

The President arrived after most of the guests assembled. He signed autographs for Luci's bridesmaids and schoolmates and mingled with old friends—from Capitol Hill and his home state of Texas—invited by the Clarks who have known the Johnsons for many years.

Johnson stayed until 11:30 p.m.—at a reception that was scheduled for 7 to 9 p.m. He sat down in an outside courtyard to a buffet dinner with Nugent's parents, who were overnight guests at the White House, and the Clarks.

Lynda Johnson, who will be maid of honor at her sister's wedding in the Roman Catholic Shrine of the Immaculate Conception here, wore a sophisticated black dress, dangling earrings and a new glamor hairdo as she arrived escorted by White House social aide, bachelor Army Capt. Mike Fenner.

House Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts said production has been outstanding at his end of the Capitol, with 40 administration bills passed so far and an expectation that this will be more than doubled in the weeks ahead.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said committees at his end of the Capitol have been operating under "a fairly full head of steam" that is expected to get bills rolling on to the Senate floor soon.

Percy Seems Shoo-in WASHINGTON (AP)—With backing from some civil rights leaders, challengers are trying in the Illinois primary today to end the congressional careers of two veteran House members allied with the Chicago Democratic organization.

In South Carolina, a former governor, Ernest F. Hollings, is seeking to sideline Democratic Sen. Donald S. Russell.

The top office nominally involved in the Illinois primary is that of picking a Republican candidate to run against Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas, who has no opposition for renomination.

But industrialist Charles H. Percy is regarded as such a certain winner of the GOP nomination against weak opposition that attention has centered on the Chicago contests for Democratic nominations to House seats.

The congressional veterans confronted with challenges are Reps. Barratt O'Hara and William L. Dawson. Defeat for either would damage the prestige of Mayor Richard J. Daley's organization with which they are associated.

O'Hara, 84, was first elected to Congress in 1948. Dawson, 80, a Negro, is rounding out his 22nd year in the House.

Both incumbents are longtime advocates of civil rights legislation. So it has been particularly painful to them that some civil rights leaders have lined up with their opponents.

Dawson is opposed by Fred D. Hubbard, 36, a Negro social leader. (Turn To Page Seven)

A Flag For Freedom

The American flag means different things to different persons. Although Americans have lived under one flag since the Stars and Stripes design was adopted almost two centuries ago, individual citizens' identifications with it are as personal and as varied as the lives they lead.

To the mother of young children it may suggest small fry learning flag etiquette. The father of a high school athlete may visualize the banner at the end of the football field.

The World War I veteran remembers it draped on John J. Pershing's casket. The World War II GI saw it go up on Iwo Jima. The Gold Star mother has it folded and put away with other keepsakes. The history buff admires the 42-foot pennant that flew at Fort McHenry in 1812 and rests today, battered and battle scarred, in the Smithsonian Institution. Some think of Betsy Ross or Barbara Fritchie when they see "Old Glory."

The American flag is many things to many Americans. And it signifies freedom to peoples around the world, as well as to individuals here at home.

Perspective On Protest

The Faculty Council of the University of Chicago has taken an action that does much to set the matter of student protest demonstrations in sensible perspective. Its stand in response to student seizure of the university's Administration Building gives the lie to any notion that such outbreaks ought to be tolerated in the name of free speech or academic freedom.

It will be remembered that student demonstrators took over the building in an effort to impose on the administration their views about the military draft. The students objected to the university's "cooperation" with the Selective Service System. None who understand the importance of preserving freedom of dissent would dispute the students' right to state their position—even to state it in ways that might be distasteful to most of the adult community. But it is stretching a point to accept, as an exercise of the right of dissent, actions that disrupt the normal functioning of institutions and interfere with the rights of others.

This is essentially the point made by the University of Chicago's Faculty Council. It condemned some of the student protests as disruptive acts, saying they went beyond legitimate means of expressing their views or trying to persuade the administration to their way of thinking.

Though the Faculty Council does not establish nor execute policy, it is an influential body. Its action is a welcome dash of cold water on the over-heated view that any protest, however disruptive, is justifiable.

Dear Ann:

Bigotry Charge—Food For Thought Ann Says

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: No bigotry allowed — unless it is yours, right? Usually I don't look at your daily drivel but my eye happened to fall on your column about the Nazi flag and I found it nauseating.

I am not saying Buchenwald and Auschwitz were good, but I am sick of anti-Nazi propaganda which is cleverly kept going by international troublemakers who want to see the world in constant turmoil.

If it weren't for two or three stupid blunders, YOU would be speaking German now. Anyone who has any knowledge of history and military tactics will admit that the Allies were nearly lost World War II. There was never a more courageous, effective or beautiful military machine than the Nazi machine.

I respect the Nazi philosophy and the whole world ought to respect it, as they respect other philosophies. Your lack of objectivity is shocking, Ann Landers. You sound like a hysterical woman. Wipe the foam off your mouth and stop giving advice.

A. H. Dear A. H.: Your initials are almost as interesting as your letter. Was "your" real name Schickelgruber, too?

The Nazi philosophy you ask the world to respect is based on the theory that the Aryan is a superman—and by virtue of that superiority, he has the right to rule the world and eliminate, at will, all inferior breeds of mankind.

Moreover, the Nazi philosophy which you admire so greatly, does not tolerate any religious beliefs. The state is god, and dedication to the state must be total. Consequently many Lutherans and Catholics died along with millions of Jews because they refused to forsake their religion.

Under Nazism the individual counts for nothing. It is the State Over All. All industrial, business and professional people — physicians, lawyers, engineers, scientists and artists — were under the thumb of Der Fuhrer.

If the Nazi philosophy is your idea of perfection you must find life in the United States intolerable. But cheer up, A. H., I have a heartening note for you. You are not alone in your beliefs. I was surprised (and chilled) to discover that hundreds of others in this country share your barbarous ideas. We Americans who believe in the dignity of man and a free society had best not be complacent. We "could" be taken by surprise.

Thank you for writing. You have given me a great deal to think about.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell us what to do about our 16-year-old daughter. She is a nervous wreck. Elsie (not her real name) has gained about 10 pounds in the last few months. She was too thin and the doctor put her on a special diet. Someone at her school started the rumor that she is pregnant. The girl doesn't want to show her face.

The big problem is that Elsie says she is not going back to her high school in the fall. She wants to go live with her aunt in Omaha and graduate from high school there.

Please give us some of your sound advice. We need it. —M AND D

Dear M and D: Please tell Elsie that the best way to explode the lie is to stay in town and go back to her school in the fall. If you allow your daughter to run from the situation, her absence will give credulity to the gossip and she will never be comfortable with her friends and classmates again. Don't let her do it.

Confidential to First Time To Be Called Mother: Your life is certainly no paradise in dreamland, but whose is? My advice is to keep your home together and manage as best you can. Don't exchange one set of problems for another.

And now, Lady, about that niece of yours—do you believe her? A girl who has such shoddy morals could also be a liar.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Why U.S. Defers Students

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—There is confusion about student deferments.

Bluntly, deferments are not aimed at helping the students. They're intended to promote the U.S. national interest.

The military is short of doctors. The shortage is so great that doctors with children are being drafted. It wouldn't make sense to draft medical students. There'd be fewer doctors to draft a few years hence.

The Army and Air Force are hungry for lieutenants and captains. The Army is jumping for every able young college graduate officer candidate it can get. Pulling good men out of school would cut down the pool from which the Army can get the young officers it needs.

There's a shortage of enlisted men in a wide variety of skills. The lists run all the way from electronics specialists to intelligence. The more schooling these young men get before they're drafted, the better it may be for the Army which has but two years to train, deploy and use each draftee.

Defense industry is short of specialists. The help-wanted sections of newspapers are filled with calls for systems analysts, programmers, trainers, accountants, personnel men, design engineers, economists, labor relations specialists, electronics men, teachers, mathematicians, physicians.

The need is for men with college degrees. If these men are taken from college, their skills won't be available to help develop and produce the tactical and strategic weapons at the speed they're needed.

Viet Nam and future Viet Nams require more than officers, enlisted men and weapons. The political, economic and psychological war requires civilian language specialists, economists, psychologists, organizers, managers, teachers, agricultural experts and industrial technicians.

In Viet Nam, for example, we were caught with a scarcity of men who knew Vietnamese. In World War II and after we had a severe shortage of men who knew Japanese and Korean. The next go-round we may be short of men who know Thai, Burmese, an African language or Portuguese.

The nation must carry on at home during and after war. Children must be educated, non-war business, farms, local, state and national governments must operate. Space and other civilian research programs are essential to the nation. Colleges must provide the skilled men and leaders to keep the United States growing in education, research, industry, space and in a host of other fields.

It's impossible to predict all the skills that will be needed in the broad national interest. Manpower overplanning bogged down Russia's expansion.

So the draft is organized to let as many as possible go to college.

If a shortage of available young men develops, some full-time college students doing satisfactory work will have to be drafted.

Qualification tests and class standing ratings are rule-of-thumb attempts to identify students with the greater potential for serving the national interest.

But every student deferment is decided as an individual case. Each local draft board has the power to decide there are other factors more important than test scores or class standings.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another storm seems certain to break over the Supreme Court for a decision it gave Monday, one of its most far-reaching and historic.

Under it the right of an individual not to incriminate himself has been extended and strengthened as never before.

But, as a result of it, far fewer people held as criminal suspects will admit anything; police therefore will have to work a lot harder solving crimes, and perhaps fewer of them will be solved.

In a 5-4 decision, written by Chief Justice Earl Warren, the court laid down these rules which police must follow scrupulously before attempting to question an arrested suspect:

1. He must be told he has the right to stay silent.

2. He must be told anything he says may be used against him in court.

3. He must be told he has the right to have an attorney with him before any questioning.

4. He must be told that, if he wants an attorney but can't afford one, an attorney will be provided for him free.

5. If, after being told all this, an arrested suspect says he does not want a lawyer and is willing to be questioned, he may be questioned and his statements "knowingly and intelligently."

6. If, after being told all his rights, a suspect agrees to be questioned, he can shut off the questions any time after they have started, whether or not he has an attorney with him.

Rule No. 5's requirement — that a voluntary confession or statement can stand up in court only if made "knowingly and intelligently" — will no doubt be the basis for countless appeals from future convictions.

The court bases its decision on the Constitution's Fifth Amendment which says "no person... shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself," which means he can't be compelled to incriminate himself.

Justice John M. Harlan, one of the four justices who disagreed with the decision, dissented in very strong language.

Communication

Letter to the Editor:

A question to the people opposed to the anti-bark ordinance. Have you ever lived in a neighborhood or next door to people who have two or three barking dogs? Perhaps if you had you would not be so concerned about dogs. In our block there are a number of dogs that bark continually and through the night. This becomes hard to live with after a while.

Also I wonder if the dog and cat owners realize how their pets bother their neighbors? We can't keep our yard or car tops clean for someone else's "pet" messing it up. I don't think one should have to put up with cats and dogs when their owners don't care enough to keep them in their own yard or take care of them.

More power to the aldermen who are finally doing something about it.

P.S. We like dogs and cats as well as anyone else as long as they don't interfere with other people's rights to peace and quiet.

Thank You.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Bladder Inflammation Has Various Causes

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have a chronic inflammation of the bladder. What causes it? I get relief by taking Mandelamine, but what I want is a cure.

A—Cystitis is caused by a germ that has reached your bladder either from the outside (ascending infection) or through your blood stream. It is aggravated by a highly acid urine. If the condition is chronic there is no simple treatment since different causative germs require different drugs. Sulfonamide and nalidixic acid will often eliminate the cause.

Q—For a urinary discomfort my doctor prescribed Mandelamine. When it failed to give sufficient relief he gave me Furadantin. How do these drugs act?

A—Both are urinary antiseptics. They kill some but not all types of germs that cause cystitis.

Q—I have been to several doctors for my cystitis. Each one tries a different treatment. One says there is no cure. Is this true? Can an emotional upset or physical weakness cause cystitis?

A—Cure is often difficult and may require a period of hospitalization under a urologist who will determine what germ is causing your trouble and what other factors are contributing to its chronicity. Emotional upsets may cause an increased frequency of urination but will not cause a true cystitis and neither will physical weakness. Q—What foods should be avoided by a person with albumin in the urine due to nephritis? Is there any drug that would be helpful?

A—Proteins must be avoided during the acute stage of nephritis, but as soon as this stage is over and there is a free passage of urine and a return of the appetite liberal amounts of protein should be given to overcome the protein deficiency that developed earlier in the course of the disease. You should get a balanced diet, but it is wise to cut down on your intake of salt. A strict attempt to eliminate sodium from your diet, however, is not necessary.

There is no drug that is given specifically to free the urine of albumin. Drugs are given to combat whatever caused the nephritis.

Q—My doctor is giving me nicotinic acid for poor circulation in my feet. Will this correct the trouble or just relieve it? Are there any bad side effects?

A—Nicotinic acid helps to dilate the small arteries in your extremities. Large doses of this vitamin can be taken with safety.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Mature Parent Rear Up on Hind Legs

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE:

Our 15-year-old girl rebuffs me

If I even ask her if she's had a good time on a date. I've told her how this hurts me but all she says is, her dates are her business. Mrs. Lawrence, when I was her age I used to go into my parents' bedroom after I'd been to a party or out with a new boy friend and tell them how I liked him, if he was going to call me again, if anyone had said anything about my dress. But this generation

ANSWER: Your daughter is scared to discuss her dates with you lest you use the information to try to recover childhood control of her.

"Is that why you want the information? Or do you want it because you are interested in her happiness? If you are more interested in her happiness than you are in reclaiming control over her, say so. Blow up when you say so. You are entitled to indignation. She has misjudged you.

"The adolescent puts a taboo on closeness to parents because he associates tenderness and warmth with humiliating infantilism, with dependence on them."

is a recent statement made by psychiatrist Dr. Murray Bilmes.

He's right. Your 15-year-old daughter is scared of closeness to you because she thinks you'll exploit it to turn her into a baby again. So what? What has her terror of renewed control of her got to do with you? It's her terror—not yours. You and I don't have to put a taboo on closeness to a child because he puts one on closeness to us. We are not children. We are loving parents who are passionately interested in his happiness.

So when a 15-year-old daughter treats us like an FBI agent seeking information on her social activities in order to stick her with a charge of subversion, we are entitled to get very mad. We are entitled to yell:

"Idiot, I'm asking you questions because I love you! I shortened the hem of that dress you wore to this party! I pressed it! I gave thought and work to make you feel happy in it! And you won't even tell me if you were! O.K., keep it to yourself! Be a pig about it if that is what you have to be!"

Talk about domination! What do you think you are when you let this child's fear of closeness to you scare you away from it, too? Dominated, controlled, swallowed up alive is what you are, my friend. It's sure fascinating to know that the young regard us as a bunch of sneaky tyrants. But if we're not sneaky tyrants, what's their distorted judgment got to do with us? Nothing. Not a thing.

Remarks That Irk Columnists

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks that a newspaper columnist gets tired of hearing—or overhearing—

"You kind of remind me of Will Rogers, except he was funny all the time."

"I guess I'd better be careful what I say to you, or I'll wind up in a column."

"You guys must know a lot more than you actually put in the paper. Tell me, off the record, what's really going on over there in Viet Nam."

"Where do you get all your ideas? Do you copy from someone else, or just make them up out of thin air?"

"I know you write five pieces a week, but what in the world do you do with all your spare time?"

"I wonder if you'd mind giving my son some advice on how to get started in your field. He dropped out of trade school after flunking his course in plumbing, and now he's decided he wants to become a columnist."

"One of the columns you wrote last week sure hit the nail on the head—but darned if I can remember right now what it was all about."

"Wake up, Hank. It's your boss on the phone. He needs a substitute column quick. He said he had to kill the one in which you attacked poison snakes. It's too controversial."

"You mean that's Hank Baneface, the columnist—that fat fellow with the handgrip look. Good grief! I don't know what I expected him to look like, but certainly not like that."

"Wake up, Hank. It's your boss on the phone. He needs another substitute column quick. He says no one at the office can understand the one you wrote for today—not even the new copy boy, the one with a M.A. in sociology from Harvard."

"Could you turn us out a piece for the anniversary edition of our high school paper, Mr. Baneface? We only want about 2,000 to 3,000 words, and you can probably knock it out in 20 minutes. It doesn't have to be real deep—just real funny."

"Wake up, Hank. It's your boss on the phone. No, he didn't have any trouble understanding your column for today. He says he just doesn't understand why you thought you could get by with it, and he needs a substitute—quick!"

into the pole at various heights for hanging school bags, purses, coats and clothes for little children. —A. V.

May. The optimist says consumers still are buying more than a year ago.

The worrier points to a drop in auto sales and production. The booster says sales are still higher than in most previous years — and another model year is just around the corner.

The same division in attitude determines how you view the latest unemployment estimates. You can take alarm that the jobless rate rose in May. Or you can take comfort in the still rising total of those with jobs.

The stock market's steep drop and then its uncertain backing and filling can be viewed as a barometer of stormy weather ahead for the economy. Or it can be accepted as a healthy cooling of speculative fever.

The more conservative minded will tell you that inflation is here and that the threat of still more is as strong as ever. Others will tell you that the inflation threat has been curbed by the healthier pace the economy is now setting.

High interest rates are seen as hurting borrowers, especially smaller businesses. But another view of the tightness of credit is that this curtails some dangerous risk taking and thus helps keep the economy on an even keel. And the man given to look on the bright side of things is sure to stress that the savers are profiting from higher interest rates — and furnishing the capital funds that will finance future economic growth.

The pessimist points to the road blocks that are beginning to trouble business expansion. He cites tightening supplies of materials, difficulties in getting deliveries, rising prices, skilled labor shortages, and competition of defense demands with civilian demands.

But the optimist views this with less alarm. He notes that business is still planning to spend more this year for plant and equipment than it did last. And he adds that any slowdown in the big expansion boom in the period just ahead will be just that more helpful in warding off federal tax increases.

The westernmost nation of continental Europe, Portugal found her destiny in the sea. Five centuries ago, caravels bearing Portugal's Cross of Christ coursed the oceans, exploring and opening two-thirds of the then-unknown world. Now, from Brazil to Portuguese Timor, 100 million people speak the tongue of Europe's oldest intact nation.

According to Gen. Jeb Stuart the way to win a battle was to "get there fustest with the most."

Many a bridge hand is won or lost the same way. Get there first with a low card trick as declarer and you will make a doubtful contract. Get there first as defender and you chalk up a penalty.

West had a very tempting club lead. Not only does he hold the ace and king but his partner has bid the suit. Of course his partner did bid under duress after West made a takeout double. But the club lead would give West a chance to take a look at dummy before continuing his defense.

That look would also be a trifle late. He could shift to a diamond but South would win and be able to set up dummy's queen of clubs for a diamond discard before West could establish a diamond trick. In other words the club lead would lose the timing of the hand.

The correct lead with the West hand is the queen of diamonds. He doesn't need to look over dummy. He is looking at his own hand and can see that his ace and king of clubs are not going away. If they are tricks later on, they will be tricks later on.

With the queen of diamonds lead West is going to get there first. He will be able to establish and collect his diamond trick before South has a chance to do anything about a discard. Incidentally, if North had tried a no-trump bid instead of four spades, his side would have gotten there first against any defense. He would only need nine tricks and there is no way for the defense to pick up five tricks first.

You bid three diamonds. West bids four clubs and your partner bids four diamonds. East passes. What do you do now?

NEW YORK (AP)—Current perplexing business trends are at least letting you separate the pessimists from the optimists. Mostly they use the same sets of figures and come up with different interpretations or presentations.

The pessimist says the economy is slowing down. The optimist says it is still growing but at a more moderate and therefore healthier pace.

The pessimist says retail sales turned down in April and

DABBLING IN DUBBING

Tonino Cacciutolo unpacks his bag of sounds at studio prior to going to work.

With a pile of common salt he creates the sound of the sea in all its moods. Bathroom plungers and plastic bowls imitate the sound of horses walking and running. To get thunder, he works with a lemon squeezer.

You name the sound and Tonino Cacciutolo, Italy's top sound effects man, will come up with it. Working in a small studio with assorted microphones, Tonino dubs in the sound effects heard in most Italian films, including American films made in Italy.

The secret of his ability is a pile of what looks like junk. Besides the bag of salt, plungers, plastic bowls and lemon squeezer, there also are such items as a piece of chain, an old revolver, men and women's shoes, various sized bells, a car door latch, a fork and assorted pieces of wood and metal.

Born in Naples in 1918, where his father was a stage technician, young Tonino studied drawing to become a scenographer. But some movie producers heard of his skill at producing sounds, hired him, and soon he was established in a new field.

Tonino uses common, everyday objects to create his sounds, supplementing these with his hands, feet and mouth. The incredible thing is that everything he needs to create all these sounds fits into a small overnight bag that he carries with him to the job.

With these rubber suction cups, Tonino imitates the sound of a horse galloping.

Small bells create the sound of a passing herd of sheep or cattle.

Rustle of clothes from cloth.

Plastic cups rubbed in salt make sound of heavy sea.

Squeaking door is created with fork and metal tube.

Mouth and hands are also used to produce special sounds.

Manipulated lemon squeezer produces sound of distant thunder.

Cacciutolo listens to the sounds he created during the recording session.

Riots

After Monday night's violence was brought under control, leaders in the community met and appointed a committee to speak at a meeting with Mayor Richard Daley.

A spokesman said the committee planned to inform Mayor Daley of the Community's problems and seek his help in improving relations between residents of the area and the police department.

A sound truck manned by area leaders moved through the neighborhood today appealing to residents to stay off the streets and avoid violence.

Democratic and Republican precinct captains taking part in today's statewide primary were enlisted to plead with residents to help maintain law and order.

Large numbers of police patrolled the community as residents eligible to vote went to the polls.

Hospital authorities said they had no count of the injured who were treated during Monday night's violence.

Looting was reported in some stores in the area, where police ordered stores closed for the night. Glass from broken store windows littered the streets where Puerto Rican youths walked with signs charging police brutality.

Puerto Rican spokesmen said they planned a protest march today from Humboldt Park to City Hall in downtown Chicago.

Three men were treated at St. Mary of Nazareth Hospital, then transferred to the Cook County Hospital. They were identified as Bienvenido Cruz, 23; Efrain Ortiz, 19; and Roberto Vasquez, 27.

At Norwegian American Hospital, Israel Irizarry, 21, was admitted in serious condition with a gunshot wound in the head. Miguel Cruz, 22, was treated and released.

Gilberto Torres, 20, was admitted to St. Elizabeth's Hospital. Sastino Ribero, 56, was treated and released.

Hospital officials said all but Irizarry suffered superficial wounds.

The city's district attorney, Carol Vance, said the decision, "certainly would appear to hamper the job the police have."

E. L. Giles, Fort Worth deputy police chief, said "it seems to me the courts are making it impossible for a person to plead guilty."

"All the emphasis has been on guaranteeing a man his rights, particularly against self-incrimination, and it is our hope and prayer that the courts some day give the same consideration to the public."

Many local law officials across the country withheld comment, however, and among those who spoke publicly several said the procedures followed in their areas are consistent with the high court's ruling.

More than 200 policemen finally put down the riot after seizing dozens who refused to leave when given this ultimatum: "Go home or be arrested."

The area where the two nights of rioting occurred contains about 40,000 Spanish-speaking persons.

The two nights of violence began Sunday after a policeman shot a Puerto Rican youth, identified as Cruz Arcells, 20. Police said the youth was armed and was trying to escape. On both nights, more than 1,000 persons clashed with police.

Monday night's violence erupted suddenly in a neighborhood where most of the businesses are run by and cater to Puerto Ricans. Spanish prevails on store signs.

Police chased the rioters west back to California Avenue where homemade fire bombs were thrown — lighting up the street as gasoline exploded.

Blue-helmeted officers, with guns drawn and wielding heavy wooden night sticks, chased this group. Several shots cracked in the air. The seven men were wounded here.

worker. O'Hara's opponent is Abner Mikva, 40, who as a state legislator has advocated open occupancy legislation.

South Carolina Democrats are picking two Senate nominees in today's primary. In addition to the Russell-Hollings race, there is a contest between P. Bradley Morrah and John B. Culbertson, both Greenville attorneys, for the nomination to oppose Republican Sen. Strom Thurmond for a six-year Senate term.

Russell and Hollings are seeking the nomination for the remaining two years of the term of the late Sen. Olin D. Johnston.

After Johnston's death in April 1965, Russell resigned as governor and was appointed to the Senate by Lt. Gov. Robert E. McNair. Republicans have nominated State Sen. Marshall J. Parker for the two-year term.

McNair has no opposition for the Democratic nomination for governor. The Republican nominee is Joseph O. Rogers Jr., now a state legislator.

What has happened, Martin said, is that many little bits and pieces of research have been done, and this has resulted in a chaotic picture like the old adage about blind men describing an elephant, with one holding the tail, another the trunk, and another touching the beast's broad side.

"The synthesis of all the pieces is yet to come," Martin said.

Testifying with Martin was Dr. Louis Bright, assistant commissioner of the U.S. Office of Education, whose field is research and technology. Bright is a leading advocate of the concept of computerized classrooms, the ultimate in teaching machines.

At another point Proxmire said "I am astonished. I had no idea of this utter lack. What have these people been doing?"

Martin replied that education, because it is more impoverished, is about half a generation behind industry in the field of research.

Nov. 24, 1963 killing of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Oswald had been charged with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy two days before.

Oswald's mother, Mrs. Marguerite Oswald of Fort Worth; and Ruby's sister, Mrs. Eva Grant, were among spectators at Monday's court session.

Ruby was neatly dressed in a dark suit, white shirt and tie. He did not speak to newsmen. Judge Holland had ordered reporters not to ask him any questions or speak to him.

Holland began jury selection after overruling defense motions that the sanity trial be put off. Defense lawyers Joe Tonnell of Jasper and Phil Burleson of Dallas argued that a trial at this time would violate Ruby's constitutional rights for various reasons.

Prices were lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Educator Blasts Present Public School Structure

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hard-hitting, small-city school superintendent told a congressional committee Monday the present structure of the nation's schools is "archaic and needs to be destroyed."

John Martin, superintendent in Mount Vernon, N.Y., also told the Senate-House Economic Committee there has been an almost total lack of broad, coordinated educational research and "a comprehensive theory of learning is now mandatory."

"Chaotic Picture" — What has happened, Martin said, is that many little bits and pieces of research have been done, and this has resulted in a chaotic picture like the old adage about blind men describing an elephant, with one holding the tail, another the trunk, and another touching the beast's broad side.

"The synthesis of all the pieces is yet to come," Martin said.

Testifying with Martin was Dr. Louis Bright, assistant commissioner of the U.S. Office of Education, whose field is research and technology. Bright is a leading advocate of the concept of computerized classrooms, the ultimate in teaching machines.

At another point Proxmire said "I am astonished. I had no idea of this utter lack. What have these people been doing?"

Martin replied that education, because it is more impoverished, is about half a generation behind industry in the field of research.

Nov. 24, 1963 killing of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Oswald had been charged with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy two days before.

Oswald's mother, Mrs. Marguerite Oswald of Fort Worth; and Ruby's sister, Mrs. Eva Grant, were among spectators at Monday's court session.

Ruby was neatly dressed in a dark suit, white shirt and tie. He did not speak to newsmen. Judge Holland had ordered reporters not to ask him any questions or speak to him.

Holland began jury selection after overruling defense motions that the sanity trial be put off. Defense lawyers Joe Tonnell of Jasper and Phil Burleson of Dallas argued that a trial at this time would violate Ruby's constitutional rights for various reasons.

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Stargell continued to wear out National League pitchers until he was sidelined Saturday night when hit by a line drive in batting practice. The Pittsburgh Pirates' left fielder led the league in hitting with a .335 average in games through Sunday.

Roberto Clemente of the Pirates, who has won the crown two years in a row, surged into third place at .330 by hitting at a .400 clip during the week with

Perry, Giants Blank Cubs 8-0 On Five Hits

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco's Gaylord Perry made his first start in 20 days Monday and gave up only three hits in seven innings as the Giants beat the Chicago Cubs 8-0.

Perry, who was on the disabled list for 15 days with a bad ankle, gave way to Lindy McDaniel in the eighth and the ex-Cub reliever completed the shutout.

After Willie McCovey hit a solo homer in the second, the Giants jumped on starter Ernie Broglio and reliever Ferguson Jenkins for six runs in the third after two outs.

Ollie Brown capped the uprising with a three-run double, his first of the season, but was thrown out for the third out trying to stretch it into a triple.

Bo Belinsky Gets Wish, Farmed Out

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bo Belinsky, who asked to be traded or sent to the minors, got his wish Monday as the Philadelphia Phillies sent the left-handed pitcher to their San Diego farm club in the Pacific Coast League on 24-hour recall.

Belinsky, who was 0-2 this season and had started one game, came to the Phillies Dec. 4, 1964, from the Los Angeles Angels in a deal for first baseman Costen Shockley and pitcher Rudy May.

The optioning of Belinsky means all the players involved in the deal are out of the majors. Shockley quit baseball and May was sent to the minors.

Belinsky won four and lost nine in 1965 for the Phillies, compiling an earned run average of 4.83. He spent part of the season sidelined with a rib injury.

The 29-year-old pitcher never quite came up to the expectations of Phillies Manager Gene Mauch and General Manager John Quinn, who continually spoke of Belinsky's "big league arm."

Mauch and Quinn both felt the Trenton, N.J., native could win in the National League if he would work hard and seriously.

Last week, Belinsky went to Mauch and Quinn and asked to be traded, or sent to the minors, if they couldn't give him more work with the Phillies. He said he earned $17,000 a season, spent every penny of it and couldn't maintain his income if he didn't pitch.

Belinsky was used in relief against the San Francisco Giants shortly thereafter and threw a home run ball that lost a game 7-6 in the 10th inning.

Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers shut out the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals twice each during 1965.

HELPING HAND—It appears that Curt Blefary (3) of the Baltimore Orioles and Brooks Robinson (5) have a balancing act as a sidelight. Actually, Brooks is trying to avoid a collision in left field and Blefary is helping him.

'Bad Influence'

Gentile Is Farmed Out, May Quit Game

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros assigned Jim Gentile to Oklahoma City Monday but the veteran first baseman with the exploding temper indicated he might quit baseball rather than report to the minor league club.

Astro Manager Grady Hatton said Gentile is "a bad influence" on the club and "he's not going to play for me."

Gentile, 32, was informed of the decision Sunday night shortly after he was kicked out of the game between Houston and the Chicago Cubs for tossing his bat toward plate umpire Ed Vargo. "It looks like this is it," Gentile said. "I'm going home."

His home is in Castro Valley, Calif.

National League President Warren C. Giles ordered a five-day suspension for Gentile and imposed a $250 fine for the incident.

Giles said that if Gentile reports to Oklahoma City the penalty will be enforced by Phil Pilon, president of the National Association of Minor Leagues, and Dewey Soriano, president of the Pacific Coast League.

Offensive Remarks
Giles said Gentile made "offensive remarks" at Vargo before throwing the bat toward the official.

Gentile was officially assigned to Oklahoma City, an Astro farm club in the Pacific Coast League. But Hatton said if any major league club wants him Houston is ready to make a deal.

"I went along with him as long as I could but I'm not going to put up with his stuff anymore," Hatton said.

"It's true Jim has been helping us some. But I believe his over-all attitude is a bad influence on some of the youngsters on the club. We don't want to ruin them. They're too good prospects."

Chuck Harrison has been recalled from Oklahoma City to take Gentile's place and was in the line-up Monday night when the Astros played Los Angeles.

Power Hitter
Harrison, 25, almost beat out Gentile for the first base job this spring. He has hit 74 home runs in the minor leagues the past two seasons.

The Astros gave $100,000 and two minor league players to Kansas City last year for Gentile. He had a batting average of .244 this season, with seven home runs and 18 runs batted in.

Redlegs Sweep Second Straight Doubleheader

Bob Vinyard and Jack McNeely turned in two sterling pitching performances and the Jacksonville State Hospital swept its second straight twin-bill, 5-2 and 2-0, over Springfield Quality Furniture, Sunday night.

Vinyard gave up five hits and McNeely only three as the Redlegs notched their fourth straight game and moved to within two games of the .500 mark, 7-9.

The Redlegs got two runs in the first of the opening game, when Sonny Hickox singled home Bill Oldenettel and Wayne Smith, both of whom singled.

Hickox also drove in what proved to be the winning run with a double in the fifth after Oldenettel had walked. Two insurance runs were added in the sixth. Gayle Waltrip walked and Bob Hembrough singled, both moving up on a wild pitch.

Vinyard's sacrifice fly scored Waltrip, and Hembrough scored home.

The only two runs of the nightcap came in the second. Hickox walked, Todd singled and Vinyard walked to load the bases. McNeely's ball to second was turned into an attempted double play, but the throw to first was late, scoring both tallies.

The scheduled game this evening against Decatur Perfect Window has been moved back to Wednesday in Decatur.

Richey, Hoogs Lead US Field In Tennis Meet

LONDON (AP) — Cliff Richey and Bill Hoogs led the advance of a large American contingent Monday by gaining the third round of the London Lawn Tennis Championships, final preview before the Wimbledon tournament starting next week.

Dennis Ralston, Clark Grabner, Ron Holmberg, Marty Riesen and Jim McManus reached the second round.

The only American loser was Bob Lutz of Los Angeles, who bowed to R. J. Moore of South Africa 6-4, 6-4 in the first round.

Richey and Hoogs, who received first-round byes, had difficulty in their second-round matches.

Richey, 19-year-old Dallas, Tex., star, downed Daniel Contet of France 11-9, 6-2. Hoogs, of Berkeley, Calif., beat G. R. Stillwell of England 4-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Roy Emerson, the favorite and Wimbledon champion from Australia, also was given a workout by Abe Segal, the South African veteran, before winning his second-round match 1-6, 16-14, 6-1.

KENTUCKY SIGNS BATAVIA CAGE ACE

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky basketball Coach Adolph Rupp announced Monday he has signed 6-foot-9 Dan Issel, "the best pivot player in the country this season," to a grant-in-aid.

Issel, who averaged 25 points and 18 rebounds a game last season at Batavia, Ill., high school, is the 12th signee for next season's Kentucky freshman squad.

Joe Hall, an assistant coach and head recruiter at Kentucky, said Issel, as a big man, was the best prospect in the nation for the Wildcats' style of play.

Cards And Mets Divide Twinbill

NEW YORK (AP) — Lou Brock rapped two singles and a triple, touching off run-scoring innings with each hit, as the St. Louis Cardinals beat the New York Mets 4-1 Monday night for a split of their doubleheader.

The Mets won the twilight game 5-2 on Bob Taylor's three-run homer and the five-hit pitching of Bob Shaw, who was making his New York debut.

Brock tripled in the third and scored on a passed ball by Met catcher John Stephenson, then singled in the eighth, stole second again and tallied on Phil Gagliano's single.

Ray Washburn scattered four singles but walked five through the first 6-2-3 innings, squaring his record at 3-3. Reliever Hal Woodeshick gave up a bases-empty homer to Ken Boyer in the eighth before giving way to Art Mahaffey, who finished up.

Phillies Sweep Two From Braves

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jack Brandt, used mainly as a late-inning defensive replacement, socked a homer and a triple that triggered Philadelphia to a 6-4 victory over Atlanta and a sweep of a two-night doubleheader Monday.

The Phillies won the first game 6-2, behind the four-hit pitching of Larry Jackson.

Brandt, starting his second game in the last 15, slammed his first home run of the season for a 1-0 lead in the third inning of the nightcap and tripled home the first tally in a five-run fifth that iced the game.

Bobby Wine singled to open the Phillies' big fifth and rode home on Brandt's triple. Tony Taylor singled home Brandt. A walk, Rich Allen's two-run double and a single by Harvey Kuenn scored three more.

Clay Dalrymple slugged a homer and a single, driving in three runs as the Phillies won the opener behind Jackson, pitching for the first time since he suffered a muscle pull in his right leg 17 days ago.

Hogan Discovers Olympic Course A Bit Tougher

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ben Hogan is back at the scene where 11 years ago he came within a gasp of winning his fifth National Open Golf Championship, and he hardly recognizes a thing.

"I didn't realize there were so many hills," the 53-year-old master from Fort Worth, Tex., said Monday.

"Somebody said to me a couple of weeks ago that the Olympic Club was hilly. I said, 'No, it isn't. It's pretty flat.' That shows you what a few years can mean."

"And that rough — I've been in the rough more times in the last couple of days than in a whole week in 1955. It's mean. I can't get the ball out of it."

The man who has won four Opens, and was given a special invitation by the U.S. Golf Association, to play here, is a strong sentimental favorite in the 66th tournament beginning Thursday over the 6,727-yard, par 70 Olympic Course.

Hogan is the least solid on his chances — that is, unless he is staging a little private psychological war.

Clemente Homer Lifts Pirates To 5-4 Decision

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Roberto Clemente hit a three-run homer off reliever Billy McCool in the eighth inning, lifting Pittsburgh to a 5-4 victory over Cincinnati Monday night.

The loss was the Reds' 14th in their last 18 games.

McCool replaced starter Joey Jay after Matty Alou walked and went to second on Gene Alley's single.

Clemente was the first man McCool faced, and the Pirate star belted a 1-2 pitch into the upper right-field stands for his ninth homer. Clemente hit only 10 homers last season.

The Pirates scored single runs in the second and third innings, both coming on Jay's wild pitches.

Cincinnati 000 310 000-4 12 0 Pittsburgh 011 000 03X-5 8 1 Jay, McCool (8) and Edwards; Law, McBean (4), Mikkelson (8) and May. W—Mikkelson 5-2. L—McCool 2-3. Home runs—Cincinnati Pinson (5), Pittsburgh, Clemente (9).

Boston And KC Swap 3 Players

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics sent three players, including relief pitcher John Wyatt, to the Boston Red Sox Monday night in exchange for three other players, including outfielder Jim Gosger.

Besides Wyatt, the Red Sox received pitcher Rollie Sheldon and outfielder Jose Tartabull.

They gave the Athletics, besides Gosger, pitchers Ken Sanders and Guido Grilli.

The Athletics said it was a straight player deal with no cash involved.

Wyatt, 31, set a major league record for relief appearances a year ago, working in 81 games. The 6-foot right-hander has been in organized ball since 1954 and first moved up to the Athletics in 1961. His current record is 0-3.

White Sox Cop First Game 5-1
CHICAGO (AP) — Don Buford drove in four runs with a single and a three-run double Monday night, leading the Chicago White Sox and Jack Lamabe to a 5-1 victory over California in the first game of a doubleheader.

Jerry Adair, acquired from Baltimore Sunday in a trade for reliever Eddie Fisher, chipped in with two hits and scored a run as the White Sox ended a five-game losing streak.

California 010 000 000-1 5 1 Chicago 131 000 00X-5 10 0 Brunet, Reed (4) and Rodgers; Lamabe and Romano. W—Lamabe 4-2. L—Brunet 4-3.

How About A Cokka, Tom?

By TOM TIEDE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

SAIGON, Viet Nam — (NEA)

— This city is something else.

I recently arrived here from the war front and, with the temperature in the 90s and my thirst, grown the worse for several days on a warm canteen,

I stopped by a French market

to get a soft drink.

There began an episode I can only equate with eating pistachio nuts out of the shell—unrewarding but difficult to stop once begun.

"I'd like to buy soda water,"

I told the clerk.

He, a watch-fob-sized fellow with a long-ashed cigarette, eyed me suspiciously and asked:

"What kind, monsieur?"

"How about orange?"

"We no have."

"Then I'll take root beer."

"We no have."

"Grape?"

"Well, what in hell do you have?"

"Cokka," he said stiffly, "we have Cokka!"

"All right, then," I told him

"I'll take six bottles."

"No."

"What?"

"Sorry, monsieur, we only sell Cokka by the case."

"Good Lord! Here, then, give me a case." I pulled out a piastre note but he, whose butt ash still refused to fall, did not take it.

"Well, what's the matter

now?" I asked.

"Where are your empties,

monsieur?"

"Empties. You must have empties to turn in for fulls."

"You're kidding."

"No."

"Look, how can I have empties

unless I get fulls to drink

first?"

"Sorry, monsieur, no empties,

no Cokka."

We continued in that vein for a few moments and at length he said that I may be able to get empties at the Cokka plant, near the river. "You go two blocks north," he directed,

"past a pile of garbage, turn right near the machine gun bunker and then go left to the

"Forget it," I muttered, "I'll find it myself."

I know I should have quit

then but it was still hot and I was still thirsty.

"Hello," I said to the plant worker.

"Yes?"

"I'd like some empty bottles please."

"Empty?"

"Yes, it's a long story."

"Let me see your credentials

sir."

"Credentials?"

"You're a food inspector,

aren't you?"

"No, no, I'm just thirsty."

"Sorry," he said, "no credentials, no empties."

As you might imagine, I blew my bottle cap right there. The worker shrugged, moved back,

mumbled something about a war being on, and finally told me I'd have to go to the black market.

"It's six blocks south," he said, "go left past a pile of garbage."

I finally got the empties, paid thrice what it costs for fulls, and on toward evening now, stumbled back to the market, my tongue thickly swollen.

"Quick," I told the grocer,

"give me a case of Cokka!"

"Sorry," he said.

"What? But I've got my empties here!"

"But, monsieur, we're all sold out now. Come back tomorrow."

Police Investigation Guidelines Tightened

High Court Rule To Curb Interrogation

WASHINGTON (AP)

The Supreme Court laid down Monday a strict set of guidelines for police investigations, including a rule that if a suspect "is a lone and indicates in any manner that he does not wish to be interrogated, the police may not question

him."

Before questioning begins, the prisoner must be told of his right to remain silent and to have a lawyer at his side, Chief Justice Earl Warren said for a

5-4 court. Also, Warren said, the suspect need not request a lawyer in order to have one. And if he cannot afford one, counsel must be provided "prior to any interrogation."

"Safeguards"

If these "procedural safeguards" are not taken before police questioning, the chief justice declared, confessions or other incriminating statements made by the suspect cannot be used at trial.

"The current practice of in-communicado interrogation is at odds with one of our nation's most cherished principles—that the individual may not be compelled to incriminate himself," the chief justice wrote in a ruling that is of historic importance.

The cases involved in the decision were a California holdup slaying, robbery cases from California and New York and a kidnap-rape in Arizona.

In the California slaying, the high court upheld the California

Supreme Court's reversal of a conviction and in the other three it reversed convictions returned in lower courts.

All of the cases involved

confessions but in none of them,

Warren wrote, did the officers undertake to afford appropriate safeguards at the outset of the interrogation to insure that the statements were truly the product of free choice."

Law enforcement officials will be told to comment on the ruling

said it would make little or no difference in procedures already followed.

Isidore Dollinger, district attorney for the Bronx in New York, said the ruling appeared to him to require "exactly what we are doing already."

Prosecutor Samuel Olsen of

Wayne County, Mich., said that

"so far as we are concerned there is absolutely nothing new in this decision."

Frank Ramon, chief of police in Seattle, Wash., said he saw nothing in the ruling to change procedures in effect.

Among officials who declined to comment were J. Edgar

Hoover, director of the FBI, and

Howard R. Leary, New York

City police commissioner.

The majority view was lashed immediately from the bench in written opinion by Justice John

M. Harlan. His face visibly flushed, Harlan accused the majority of "a hazardous experiment at a time when the crime rate in this country is a problem of growing concern."

In his dissent, Harlan said

"the court is taking a real risk with society's welfare in imposing its new regime on the country."

Blasts Decision

Also dissenting, Justice Byron

R. White said "in some unknown number of cases the court's rule will return a killer,

a rapist or other criminal to the streets and to the environment which produced him, to repeat his crime wherever it pleases him. As a consequence, there will not be a gain, but a loss, in human dignity."

Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas, William J.

Brennan Jr. and Abe Fortas

lined up with Warren. Justice

Potter Stewart joined Harlan and White, and Justice Tom C.

Clark wrote a separate opinion, disagreeing with most of what the court did.

In another significant ruling

the justice upheld 7-2 the constitutionality of a provision of the 1965 federal voting rights law

designed to permit Puerto Ricans to vote on the basis of literacy in Spanish.

And the court unanimously threw out the contempt of Congress conviction of John T. Go-jack, a former vice president of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America,

who refused to answer questions of a House subcommittee on un-

American activities in 1955.

The four "confession" cases covered by Monday's ruling on police investigations stem from the landmark 1964 Escobedo

decision in which the high court, for the first time, extended the right to counsel to a suspect in a police station.

"Basic Question"

The questions at issue,

Warren said, "go to the roots of our concepts of American criminal jurisprudence: the restraints society must observe consistent with the federal constitution in prosecuting individuals for crimes."

Then, basing his reasoning on the Fifth Amendment privilege against possible self-incrimination, he set down the guidelines to cover police investigations.

The decision said the suspect's rights apply at the start of "custodial" interrogation.

This was defined as "questioning initiated by law enforcement officers after a person has been taken into custody or otherwise deprived of his freedom of action in any significant way."

As for the prosecution,

Warren said it may not use statements, whether "incriminating or even protesting innocence, unless it "demonstrates that time."

the use of procedural safeguards effective to secure the privilege against self-incrimination."

Warren said the decision "is not intended to hamper the traditional function of police officers investigating crime."

However, Harlan wrote that he believes the decision "represents poor constitutional law and entails harmful consequences for the country at large."

Report Light Vote Throughout 26 City Precincts Tuesday

Voter turnout was reported extremely light Tuesday morning throughout the 26 city precincts, as was expected by veteran political observers for the primary election.

In three wards reporting, only 10 per cent of the vote had been cast by noon, and judges at the polls forecast voter apathy was likely to remain during the day.

An indication of the light vote was the early balloting in the South Jacksonville precinct where only 51 of 600 registered voters had reported by noon.

In precinct 15, judges said that as of 11 o'clock Tuesday morning 100 of the 800 voters had been to the polls.

The first June primary locally lacks voter interest because of the absence of contested races. At the county level, the lone battle is in the Republican ranks in the race for sheriff.

Polls will remain open until six o'clock this evening, and precinct committeemen are expected to put all their machinery available into operation in hopes of turning out a favorable vote in their respective areas.

The only races of local interest are the two between Democrats D. J. (Jerry) White and Billie M. Cox, both of Springfield, for state senator from the 49th district.

Another minor contest Republicans will be watching is the battle between Quincy Mayor Wes Olson and Springfield businessman Don Adams, for 20th district central committeeman. White has campaigned maintaining he has the backing of the party organization and officials in both Morgan and Sangamon counties, which comprise the district.

Campaign Appeal to People Cox has based his appeal on letting the people pick the candidate rather than a political party. He has vigorously campaigned behind the federal food surplus commodity trucks in both counties, and according to political watchdogs, covered the territory extensively.

The GOP race between Olson and Adams will determine who will be chosen in the fall election.

Olson, popular Quincy mayor, who uses a Monday night television show to explain city council meetings, and obtain a great deal of exposure, is expected to run strong in Adams county. Adams has openly commented that if he can receive the support in Morgan and Sangamon counties, he expects to win with no trouble.

Another race of local interest will be battle for the Republican nomination for sheriff.

Deputies Dean Colwell and Clifford Smith have waged an active campaign at every hamlet in the county. Colwell has served as a deputy for the past eight years, and Smith is presently serving on the sheriff's payroll.

In the race for state representative, three names will appear on the Democrat ballot, but only two will receive the nomination for November.

Veteran legislator Carl H. Witmond of Brussels heads the list, followed by Quincy school teacher, Elmo (Mac) McClain, who is completing his first term in the house.

Challenging the two is Henry D. Sullivan, also of Quincy.

Three Votes Again Voters can return to the practice of casting three votes or one and one-half votes for state representative candidates. The at-large contest two years ago returned the practice to one vote for one "x".

Although complicated in some respects for election judges, voters may mark only one candidate on either party's ballot and that candidate gets three votes. The voter may, also mark two candidates and then the two candidates receive 1½ votes each. Democrats cannot mark an "x" in front of each of their three candidates and expect one vote for each candidate. This would result in a spoiled segment of the ballot being declared void. On the other hand, Republicans have only two candidates listed and voters may mark only one to cast three votes or mark both for 1½ votes for each man.

The only incentive for candidates to get as many votes as possible is that the names on the ballot in the fall will be listed according to the number of votes received in the primary. Most candidates feel being listed "first" is a decided advantage.

Four names will appear on the ballot in the fall, two from both parties. The system in Illinois insures that no more than two members of the same party will be elected from a given district. Three out of the four candidates in the fall will be elected.

Republican candidates for county offices are: Louise Coop for county clerk; Harold E. Wright for treasurer; Dean Colwell and Clifford Smith for sheriff; Wilfred E. Rice for county superintendent of schools; Harry E. Thompson for county commissioner.

Democratic candidates for county offices are: Jean D. "Mrs. C. A." Henley for county clerk; Alfred H. Hodgson for treasurer; John F. (Jack) Long for county superintendent of schools; and Don McNamara for county commissioner.

Election judges reported to the polls at 6 a.m. Tuesday. Results will be posted at the county clerk's office following the election.

Western Illinois Fair Features Pork-A-Go-Go

The 1966 Western Illinois Fair at Griggsville will operate seven nights and six days. The fair will open Tuesday night, June 28, concluding Monday night, July 4.

The opening night Tuesday, June 28, will be devoted to a preview of the fair and will feature an entirely new international grandstand attraction, without charge at the gates or grandstand.

The opening event will present America's first "Swine Carcass Show and Pork-A-Go-Go." A real honest-to-goodness "Go-Go" show is being arranged around the Western Illinois Fair Swine Carcass Show headed by James Dennison, Griggsville livestock feed representative; Joe Phillips of Pittsfield, Illinois, purebred hog raiser; Roger Curfman of Perry, Illinois, market hog raiser; and Harry Wright of Pittsfield, Illinois, Pike County Farm Adviser.

The live swine carcass show in front of the grandstand will be penned for swine and equipped with fenced lanes. The finest in gilts and barrows will be judged on foot, then transported to East St. Louis for butchering with carcass winners returned to the fair for a refrigerated display.

The grandstand performance with planned elaboration is done by reason of Griggsville being the largest swine producing township in Pike County, Pike County being the second leading hog producing county in Illinois, and the third leading county in the nation, providing more dollars than any other single source to the area's economy.

"Go-Go Girls" "Go-Go girls" will offer entertainment throughout the evening with a rock 'n' roll band. The girls will perform in an elevated cage in the center of the track, with the swine being judged below on the track. The band will perform on the stage. Their performances will be timed to fill any delays in the swine carcass show.

Audience participation will also be included whereby all persons attending will be given judges' sheets and those judging as close to, or identically with the Swine Judges, will receive appropriate awards. The audience will also judge the "Go-Go girls" who will be judged on a basis of several qualities.

Costumes for the "Go-Go girls" are being designed by a foremost French fashion designer. In keeping with Griggsville

Dogs Get Reprieve, Anti-Barking Law Tabled Indefinitely

Members of the Jacksonville City Council Monday night promptly tabled a proposed anti-barking ordinance by unanimous vote before discussion could get a good start.

The election-eve council meeting moved through the agenda without difficulty until the proposed anti-barking ordinance was mentioned.

A dozen and a half citizens howled protests at the council meeting and most aldermen admitted privately that they had heard other protests during the past week from almost every corner of their wards.

Second-Ward Alderman Howard Thompson's proposed anti-barking law was composed after hearing a long list of complaints from citizens in his ward concerning dogs barking all hours of the day and night.

Thompson directed the city attorney to draft the ordinance and it passed first reading last week. The proposed ordinance is now among the city's archives where most observers believe it will die a natural death. (Or, as one spectator put it, (the ordinance) "could be slipped into the agenda at any time in the future after the public protests have died down.")

Pledges To Give Notice Mayor Byron Holkenbrink pledged that "ample notice" would be given if the ordinance moves back onto the council floor for a vote.

One resident spoke in favor of the ordinance but the rest of the spectators were strongly opposed. Alonzo Correa commented that the problem was that "people let their dogs out at night which causes the other dogs to bark." Correa also suggested an ordinance to "prevent Hoot Owls from hooting" as a companion measure.

Bob Conant said the portion of the ordinance requiring a complaint sworn before a magistrate was a commendable portion of the law and suggested that it might be a good addition to the present ordinances. Several others present expressed opinions.

One spectator called attention to a large wall calendar hanging in the council chamber, sponsored by Wareco, featuring a life-sized picture of three hunting dogs.

Council Broadcasts A measure authorizing Radio Station WLDS to broadcast City Council meetings live was approved by a 12 to one vote. The request was made May 23 by WLDS General Manager Gerry Cassens. The council authorized a trial period of up to 60 days to see how it works. Alderman Ray Birdsell cast the only "No" vote.

Cassens said last night that regular council broadcasts would start as soon as technical problems could be worked out. "This may be in time for next week's meeting," he said.

Summer Schedule The council will observe a "summer schedule" during the months of July and August. An eight to five vote made it official, although those who voted against the vacation period recalled several special meetings held last year during a similar observance.

Next week's meeting was cancelled due to the Institutions Recognition banquet sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce to be held at MacMurray college dining hall. The council voted to skip the regular meeting in order that all aldermen could attend the dinner. Mayor Byron Holkenbrink called a special executive meeting for June 21. The council is expected to delve into the water rate structure for the Village of South Jacksonville behind closed doors.

A fire hydrant installed near the Key Life Insurance home office on West Morton Road at the request of the city was authorized to be paid from public benefit funds. The hydrant was installed by the insurance firm during construction of their building. Cost of the hydrant was $400.70.

Several ordinances received second and final reading by the council. Several unopened alleys in Berdan's addition were vacated to make it easier to plat a proposed new addition; Meline Nursing Homes near Lafayette and North Church received approval for special use permit as a nursing home. The area has been operating as a non-conforming use for several years.

A portion of Westfair subdivision was annexed into the city and Broadway Alley between Douglas and Timber Alley was vacated to make way for the new city hall. All the land on which the old city hall stands plus the alley was deeded to the public building commission.

A letter from the State Sanitary Water Board approved the plans submitted for correcting the sewage treatment problem for Jacksonville and urged prompt construction of the proposed plant.

Paul Barnes was confirmed by the council as a member of the Sandy Beach committee. Barnes will be in charge of solicitation of funds.
